MARGARET WAS NOT HAPPY

Everything Was Going Wrong and She Used the Plumber's Language to Tell of It.

The M. B. Dalys are blessed with children. This summer they are occupying a cottage on the lake, just west of Vermillion, where there's plenty of air and sunshine, and water. Whenever his arduous duties permit, the president of the East Ohio Gas company hurries westward in the general direction of Vermillion.

The last time he went out he came upon his youngest daughter, Margaret, all huddled up on a bench, and unusually quiet.

"What's the matter, Margie?" he asked. "Anything wrong?"

"Yes, indeed," replied the young lady. "I've stubbed my toe, and the kitten scratched me, and the boys won't play croquet with me, and mother won't let me go in bathing alone, and—"

"Why, why," said the father, sympathetically, "you are having a serious time, aren't you?"

"I'm having a beluvaltime," was the unexpected reply. And then, noticing the astonishment on her father's face, she hid her head in his arm and added, with a blush of guilt: "That's what the plumber said."—Cleveland Leader.

FOR FARMER AND HOUSEWIFE

Prussian Plan for Traveling Schools That Will Give Them Much Needed Instruction.

Press accounts state that the Prussian government will in its next budget ask for a grant in order to provide for itinerating housekeeping schools.

These are to move from place to place and give instruction in housekeeping to the daughters of laborers, craftsmen and farming people. The plan of instruction comprises cooking, baking, conserving and putting up fruit, vegetables, and other food articles, dairying, feeding and care-taking of farm animals, poultry culture, raising of fruit and vegetables, sewing, repairing and cleaning of sanitation of the home, nutrition and health.

The course of instruction will take about eight weeks. Schools of this sort have been in existence in the Rhenish province and in some of the other German states and have been of great benefit. It is intended eventually to provide such an itinerating school for every county in Prussia.—Deputy Consul-General Simon W. Hanauer.

Cowboy Hats 2,000 Years Ago.
That there is nothing new under the sun is becoming more and more axiomatic. It is suggested that the Egyptians under Pharaoh knew of radium, that the Assyrians and Chaldeans were acquainted with electricity and that aviation was not unknown to the ancients.

Now we learn that frescoes and bas-reliefs in Crete show that in the depths of past ages huntresses wore leather boots, with big hats like those used by American cowboys and that an archaeologist has come to the conclusion that the fashionable Cretan ladies 2,000 years before the Christian era appeared in public with boots with heels, the straight mantle and jupe culotte, in fact, just like a lady from one of the celebrated dressmaking establishments in the Rou de la Paix.

Has Risen to High Position.

John Howard Hale, the largest peach grower in the world and the first man to make Georgia famous for this fruit, worked as a day laborer in Connecticut when a boy. He managed to save a few hundred dollars which he invested in peach trees, planting them on the mortgage home farm. The first crop paid off the mortgage and opened Hale's eyes to the possibilities of his native state as a fruit producer. He increased his holding and others quickly took the hint. Later he went to Georgia and planted an immense acreage. He is a native of Glastonbury, Conn., aged fifty-seven years, and has written much on horticultural subjects.

Coming Business Man.

There is a candy boy on a railroad train running out of New York to a near by seashore resort whose ingenuity probably will place him at the head of the "best sellers." He came into the smoker a few days ago shouting his wares. There were no buyers. Then the wise youngster, playing on the New Yorkers' dormant gambling propensity, asked five men to contribute ten cents each for chances on a box of candy. He quickly got five "takers" on a 30-cent box. He made out five small slips from a pad that he carried, and the men drew. Within ten minutes the "candy butcher" had disposed of three boxes.

Mechanical Education for Girls.

"No girl can consider herself educated today if she cannot drive a nail or put a hinge on a door." Miss Mary Snow, superintendent of household arts for the public schools of Chicago, made this assertion in a talk on "Training for Girls." "I consider this mechanical knowledge a necessity," said Miss Snow. "Many women when confronted with the stupendous problem of coaxing a nail into a board would rather telephone the chief of police or the board of education for help. Generally they enlist the janitor or the hired man. It is a deficiency in their education."

GOOD ONE ON TILLY HAYNES

"Women Run Everything in New York," Said Tourist, Seeing His Name on Hotel.

An excursion party of seeing New Yorkers was taking in the urban sights from a Broadway open car. It was late in the afternoon, possibly half-past five, and as the car neared Great Jones street the young woman in the linen suit prodded the young woman in the blue serge enthusiastically.

"Oh, Sallie," she cried, "I do think New York women are too enterprising for anything. They can do any sort of business thing a man can, it seems to me. Just look at this hotel with all the men sitting in chairs on the sidewalk! Doesn't it look too homelike for anything? I declare, it reminds me of Summerfield Center—our hotel has chairs outside, too, in the evening. You'd know a woman ran this one, even if you didn't see the sign over the front door, wouldn't you? Only a woman would know how to make a place look comfortable and—and—sociable like that. But there's the sign: Broadway Central, kept by Tilly Haynes. Women run everything in New York."

THEIR QUARREL

Peggy—Silly boy? Why did you take me seriously? Though my words were severe, you must have seen that I was smiling.

Beggy—Well, your mouth is so small that I didn't notice it.

CYLINDRICAL LIGHTNING.

What appears to be a well-attested instance of lightning in the form of a cylinder, since it is reported in an Italian scientific journal by Prof. Ignazio Galli, occurred at Rome on January 3. At seven o'clock in the evening, when a brilliant discharge of lightning occurred over the city a glowing cylinder three decimeters long and one centimeter in diameter issued from a wall at the point of attachment of a telephone wire. It passed horizontally over the table containing the telephone, and between two persons seated close together, and then went out of an open door. A few seconds later an explosion was heard. None of the persons present felt any effect from the presence of the cylinder, which was silvery white, with a slightly bluish or violet tinge, and no noise or odor was detected during its presence, which lasted only a few seconds. The cylinder did not change its form.—Youth's Companion.

AMERICAN ZIONISTS.

The Federation of American Zionists has just held its fourteenth annual convention. It is their object to regain Palestine for the Hebrew race, and their plan is to purchase 100,000 acres there each year for the establishment of Jewish colonies. Already they have 38 agricultural colonies in the Holy Land, and but recently they opened a settlement near Jaffa for artisans as well.

LUCKY IN ENTERPRISE.

The women of Whitehouse, N. J., thought it would be nice to have concrete sidewalks and as the council would not provide the money they formed a Wishbone club and are raising the money. They are going to hold a bazaar this summer to complete the amount needed.

REALISTIC MEANINGS.

"Pop, what do they mean by a cast of countenance?"

"It means when people throw looks, sonny."

THE COME BACK.

"We are turning a lot of young lawyers out."

"Don't worry. They'll get back at us by taking us in."
